HARMONY-BUT NOT SECURITY

SATURDAY AUGUST 24, 1912

On the face of the returns from last night's Republican nominations for delegates to the territorial and county conventions, there will be few precincts where factional fights will be carried into the primaries. Practically all of the fights were eliminated before last night and in many precincts but one ticket was put up. "Harmony" of a rather unsatisfactory kind was check the evil by the passage of an ordinance. the keynote.

The harmony is not entirely satisfactory be cause it is not entirely sincere. Little opposition apparently is to be encountered by Delegate Kuhio in the Republican territorial convention ind there seems no possibility that he will not renominated to lead the Republican ticket this fall. The efforts of those delegates to the convention who are not following Kuhio's lead and the lead of his advisers—will be directed toward eliminating from this convention the personal element in Kuhio's fight against Frear. If this can be eliminated, it will be in accord with the better sentiment of the islands. Ku hio, urged by his close associates, has made two political speeches in which there has been a attention that the ordinance can be allowed to marked recognition of this revolt throughout Hawaii against the vitriolic attack on the governor, of which every good citizen has grown tired. But Kuhio's co-workers have not been so careful, and the Hilo meeting witnessed the outbreak of this mischief-making spirit. The question is therefore whether Kuhio's wise counselors and his own good sense will prevail, or whether hot-headed, ready-tongued appeals to projudice will prevail. The character of the territorial convention will be determined by harmony, but the fact that there are few contests, like this aspect of the movement. in the primaries should not lull the voters to any false sense of security. The political hucksters churches are peculiarly fortunate in securing have been received with favor where the African arms traffic. and tricksters will try to win what they may from these contests.

The best guarantee of party harmony is the registration of every voter in the precincts and a stand for decent delegates and progressive delegates in those precincts where a choice is offered between such men and political pickpockets and sneak-thieves.

ONE WAY TO REDUCE THE COST OF LIVING IN HONOLULU

ionolulu Star - Bulletin be sound; some of them are evidently Utopian; periment with.

But one of the heaviest elements in this expensive living cost—the element of government expenditure—can be reduced. It can be reduced either by actual cutting of expenses or by making present expenditures cover more ground, do more work.

The housewife who sees her monthly bills steadily mounting and who is struggling to keep them within reasonable bounds perhaps does not realize that expensive city government increases these bills. That is the case, however. Every businesshouse, every shop, must pay its proportion of the city's bills, and its own prices to censumers are governed partly by its expenses.

The first reduction in the cost of living can se made by economy in running the city.

Upon the solicitation and earnest request of a number of responsible people of this community, ladies and gentlemen interested in stamping out one of the most terrible forms of vice, there was submitted to the board of supervisors on July 13 last a form of ordinance to check and regulate the dance-hall evil. The law was urged upon evidence that young girls are being lured three nights during the whole time. to ruin in dance-halls so vile that they beggar description. Prominent members of the humans society appealed to the board of supervisors to

The form of ordinance was referred to the police committee, where it has since been slumbering. The materials will be of the finest obtainable and from now on until the date of the sale the members of that society will be busy meking tiny stitches in the filmiest of fabries; sewing cobweb of laces together and draping chiffon and soft silks over the forms of blonde and brunette dolls, Curly haired, straight haired, braided, bobbed and carefully coiffured dolls; tall, short, slender and portly, all these various points of attractiveness are to be seen in the great display on Friday and Saturday, October 11 and 13. The of the King's Daughters Home.

In the opinion of officials of the grolegical survey, the subject of briquetting is one to which this country should begin to pay serious attention. as on it depends both the utilization of some grades of fuel which should be made useful, but are now wasted, and the length of time the coal supply of the country is to endure.

principal factor militating against the more rapid development of fuel briquetting in the non-coking fields of the middle West is the low price of the raw fuel with which the manufactured product has to com pete," says a geological survey official, and as long as new areas can be opened up without restriction, and the supply of cheap coal continued, ra ing will the present profligacy be n sintained and the slack continue to te unused except to a limited degree.'
